EACCNY Committees :

A Focus on Member Engagement -- We encourage our members to engage with us on many levels to make their membership a meaningful and profitable experience. We have identified special committees to address issues most relevant to their business. These member-driven committees provide a platform for subject-matter experts within the membership to exchange ideas and insights on certain topics. Additionally, in coordination with EACC Staff, these committees develop topical programs to educate our members, and the Tri-State region business community on relevant transatlantic trade and investment matters. Our committees group together members with similar backgrounds and interests to organize events ranging from educational seminars and panel discussions or workshops, to focused group discussions. These committees allow the EACC-NY members to be involved active in the organization and, similarly, helps the EACCNY adapt to the needs of its members.
