

About LOLA

What does LOLA do? We encourage and support female leaders to stay engaged with libertarian philosophy, promote liberty to new audiences, and elevate their work through leadership opportunities and training. Our goals are to create an empowered network of libertarian women leaders actively engaging in public discourse, showing our empathy to those harmed by government, and drawing new audiences to the political and societal changes needed to secure opportunity for every individual and family... We accomplish these goals through three main programs: 1) LOLA Social Chapters | 2) LOLA Leadership Training | 3) LOLA Speakers Bureau

The Ladies of Liberty Alliance (LOLA) is a non-profit, non-political, educational organization established in 2009 to address the shortage of women in the liberty movement. Research shows that libertarian women feel the most alone in libertarian circles than women involved in other political philosophies. Libertarian women from different backgrounds and experiences have come to LOLA expressing that they feel alone in the liberty movement and/or their desire to be part of an all-women’s group where Ladies of Liberty can come together and empower one another to be active members of the liberty movement. Thus, LOLA began.

1.1. Chapters

Enable women to come together to share their passion for personal freedom, establish a strong community through relationship building, and empower one another to be active members of the liberty movement

LOLA Social Chapters — Ladies only social groups located in cities throughout the U.S. and abroad, where like-minded women come together to share their passion for personal freedom, establish a strong community through relationship building, and empower one another to be active members of the liberty movement. LOLA Social chapter events can take on any type of format that best suits their chapter—a policy based discussion, a movie screening, a potluck, or another format that ensures there is a social element to the meeting, which allows attendees to connect, build relationships, and enjoy their time together. LOLA Social Chapter events can take on any type of format that best suits the chapter. Popular events hosted by LOLA Chapters include policy-based discussions, self-defense classes, hosting a Speaker/Professor/Local leader, discussions on local issues, movie screenings, and potlucks. Social elements to the meetings allow attendees to connect, build relationships, and promote the ideas of liberty.

1.2. Training

Provide skills-based training to help women reach their personal and professional goals and become strong communicators of libertarian ideas

LOLA Leadership Training — Active leaders from LOLA Social Chapters are invited to participate in our annual LOLA Leadership Retreat. Previous training topics include: Writing op-eds, on-camera media training, personal branding, reaching out to your school board/church/political party about liberty, op-ed writing, public speaking, and more. LOLA provides skills-based training to help women reach their personal and professional goals and become strong communicators of libertarian ideas. Training is offered in Washington, DC and cities with LOLA Social chapters.

Stakeholder(s):
