Conflict & Cooperation

Build research teams that analyze the causes and consequences of global conflict and help develop practical solutions

Our focus is on challenges that have the potential to lead to wide-scale conflict, and that can benefit from global cooperation to solve. Our portfolio includes both traditional security issues—defense innovation, strategy and deterrence, nuclear weapons policy, and security cooperation—and emerging and non-traditional challenges such as environmental threats, geoeconomics and great power competition, and threats to democracy. In each of these areas, IGCC builds diverse, multidisciplinary research teams that analyze the causes and consequences of global conflict—and help develop practical solutions.

1. Security

Analyze traditional security issues

defense innovation, strategy and deterrence, nuclear weapons policy, and security cooperation

2. Challenges

Analyze emerging and non-traditional challenges such as environmental threats, geoeconomics and great power competition, and threats to democracy
